WOMEN'S CONVENTION

Resolutions Adopted---Officers Elected---Closing Exercises.

CHILLIWHACK, Sept. 7.—Morning devotional exercises led by Mrs. Burkholder, of Victoria; chair taken by the President. A Fraternal Delegation from the Order of Good Templars was received by the Convention rising and giving the Chatauqua salute. The address, which was full of interest and good cheer, was read by Rev. J. W. Hall and responded to very gracefully by Mrs. Jenkins, of Victoria.

After short and amicable discussions, the following resolutions were read and adopted:

RESOLUTIONS.

1. Resolved, That we express our gratitude to Almighty God for the kind Providence that has been over us during the year that is past, and that we meet again under such favorable circumstances.

2. Resolved, That this Convention tender its heartiest thanks to Miss Bowes for her arduous toil in visiting, not only the cities of our province, but also many of the outlying settlements hitherto unreached by temperance lecturers.

3. Resolved, that we recommend each local union to procure as many subscribers as possible for our official organ, The Woman's Journal; also, that the claims of the Union Signal, as a leading temperance paper, be placed before the several unions.

4. Resolved, That this Convention recommend the local unions to bring all pressure to bear upon school trustees in their several communities, so as to secure as far as possible teachers of sound temperance principles; also, that our Provincial Legislature be petitioned to make physiology and hygiene, with special reference to the effects of alcohol on the human system, a branch of study to be taught in all our public schools.

5. Resolved, That we pledge ourselves to endow a bed in the Jubilee Hospital, on condition that the government provide a ward for women; also, that the local unions pledge themselves to bear a proportionate share of the expenses attached to such, the arrangements to be entrusted to the provincial executive.

6. Resolved, That local unions be invited to give one entertainment a year, the proceeds of which shall be devoted to replenishing the provincial treasury of the W. C. T. U.

7. Resolved, That in order to facilitate business at the Annual Convention, all local unions be requested to close their yearly accounts at the same time, or not later than the last of July; also, that the Provincial Corresponding Secretary forward the statistical blank forms to them before June 30th, and that they be filled and returned to the Secretary not later than July 31st.

8. Resolved, That as the world's Women's Christian Temperance Union have determined to petition the governments of the world against the existing moral evils, particularly intemperance, lobacco and opium, this convention recommend the circulation of this petition throughout our province, to be signed as nearly as possible by every woman above the age of 16.

9. Resolved, That in reponse to a call made by Miss Frances E. Willard through the "Mission Signal," we set apart Nov. 13th and 14th as days of prayer "for the growth and universal diffusion of all forms of temperance work," that ministers be invited to preach one temperance sermon on Sunday the 13th, and that Sunday school superintendents be asked to pray on that day for the same cause, and to bring it before their scholars.

10. Resolved, That as in the eastern provinces Loyal Legions are superceding Bands of Hope, we re-organize the latter under the name of "Loyal Legion," numbering them according to the order of their organization; also that in order to stimulate the children to increased activity in the cause, we invite through the Y. W. C. T. U. of Victoria, the young women of the province to provide a banner, which shall be awarded to the Loyal Legion that has been most successful during the year in augmenting their numbers, most regular in attendance and greatest interest shown in the work; local circumstances to be taken into consideration. The Legion in highest standing to hold the banner.

11. Resolved, That the minutes of the convention be printed within sixty days from the date of closing; that tenders be called for the printing of the same—to be awarded to the lowest tenderer; also that the local unions shall assist in the expense of printing—in proportion to their numbers.

12. Resolved, That we continue to prosecute the work of endeavoring to procure a Sabbath law for the closing of saloons.

13. Resolved, That as far as practicable, we recommend all members of the W. C. T. U. to withdraw their support from grocers who hold liquor licenses.

14. Resolved, That as the aim of the Women's Christian Temperance Union is "to keep the home pure" we add to the list of our departments of work, that of "Social Purity."

15. Resolved, That to the department of work, known as Legislation and Petitions, we add that of franchise.

16. Resolved, That as the organization of the Dominion W. C. T. U. will be completed during the convention to be held in Montreal, we forward our affiliation dues and if practicable appoint a delegate.

17. Resolved, That the most cordial thanks of this convention be tendered to the ladies of Chilliwhack, Cheam and Sumas, who have so hospitably entertained the delegates during their stay; also to those gentlemen who, with so much courtesy, have placed their carriages at the disposal of the ladies for the purpose of conveying them to and from the place of meeting.

18. Resolved, That we acknowledge with grateful appreciation the assistance given to the W. C. T. U. by the ministers of the Province who have so ably and willingly, at all times, aided us, both by their counsel and presence, at our meetings and on other occasions.

19. Resolved, That the sympathy of sisterhood of the W. C. T. U. of this Province be conveyed to our sister, Mrs. Harrison, of Maple Ridge, in her bereavement and affliction, assuring her that our prayers will ascend to our Heavenly Father that He will give her all needful grace to comfort and sustain her; also, that we extend our sympathy to the President of the Burrard Inlet Union, whose home has been destroyed by fire.

20. Resolved, That, as during the year, homes have been broken and several of our number passed from the earthly to the Heavenly home, we take this occasion of expressing our sympathy with the surviving relatives, commending them to our loving Father, who alone can soften all grief and heal every wound.

21. Resolved, That our thanks be tendered to the C. P. N. Co. for the reduced rates of travel granted to our delegates.

After a few kind remarks by the President, the Convention was closed by singing:

"Blest be the tie that binds
Our Christian hearts in one.
The fellowship of kindred minds
Like heaven on earth begun."

After which, the signification of "Mizpah" was given by Miss Bowes, as the year's watchword, and at the request of the President, was repeated by each member of the Convention. Benediction pronounced by Rev. Hemlaw.

In the evening a general mass meeting, under the auspices of the W. C. T. U., was held in the Hall, presided over by the President. Addresses, lively and interesting, were delivered by Rev. White, of New Westminster, and Rev. E. Robson, of Vancouver, interspersed with suitable music.

We can say in behalf of the ladies and gentlemen of Chilliwhack, that everything apparently possible was done to make the Convention a success, and may safely add that we shall look forward with increasing pleasure to our return to Chilliwhack Valley Convention.

THE SEAL FISHERIES.

The Hon. Mr. Thompson, Minister of Justice, whilst in Winnipeg last week, to a Call reporter stated that in company with the Postmaster-General he had visited several places of interest along the coast within the province; that the trip was a most enjoyable one. He said that several consultations, relative to the Alaskan fishery dispute, were held with the British Columbia government; but nothing definite had been arrived at. In reference to the item telegraphed from Washington, setting forth that several Canadian schooners and steamers had been seized and were lying in Sitka harbor, and that the Indian crews had been turned out on to the beach, but reinstated on the remonstrances of citizens of Sitka, Mr. Thompson said the report been received after he left and he knew nothing of it. He did not know what grounds the Americans had for making the seizures. As far as known to the Canadian Government there is nothing appearing to justify them, nor anything which the United States authorities can claim in justification thereof, consistent with their action of last year. So the seizures have probably taken place under a misapprehension or for some reason of which we have not heard. The seizures on the Atlantic seaboard had nothing to do with those in the Behring Sea. The circumstances are not at all parallel. On the Atlantic coast the government only seized those vessels caught fishing within the three-mile limit; and retaliation of that kind would be a mere act of warfare or piracy. Russia had no power to hand over any water rights at the time of the transfer. The United States established that she had none in those seas when she owned the territory. He had every confidence that the United States Government will make reparation, or show that they had reason for so acting. He did not anticipate the least difficulty.

Catarrah, Catarrhal Deafness and Hay Fever.

Sufferers are not generally aware that these diseases are contagious, or that they are due to the presence of living parasites in the lining membrane of the nose and eustachian tubes. Microscopic research, however, has proved this to be a fact, and the result is that a simple remedy has been formulated whereby catarrh, catarrhal deafness and hay fever is cured in from one to three simple applications made at home. A pamphlet explaining this new treatment is sent free on receipt of stamp, by A. H. Dixon & Son, 305 King street West, Toronto, Canada.—Christian Standard.

PRINCE FERDINAND ABDICATES.

VIENNA, Sept. 12.—Strausky, Bulgarian minister, arrived here yesterday, bearing a letter of abdication from Prince Ferdinand. Strausky will make one more despairing attempt to secure the support of the Austrian Government, but the Prince's retirement is absolutely certain.

AMERICAN NEWS.

ASSISTANT SECRETARY OF STATE RESIGNS.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.—Ex-Governor Porter, Assistant Secretary of State, yesterday formally and definitely resigned. President Cleveland, in conversation with him, expressed his regrets, and Governor Porter, it is stated, promptly told him that while he was sorry on some accounts to leave, he would never set foot in the Executive Department again as long as Bayard was connected with it. This brought the conversation to an abrupt termination.

ATTEMPTED ABDUCTION.

NEW YORK, Sept. 12.—An attempt was made last night to abduct little May Drummond, the eight-year-old daughter and heiress of Lord Drummond, who died here a short time ago. May and Lady Drummond were among the passengers on the steamboat from Coney Island. As the passengers were landing, May was missed from her mother's side. Lady Drummond made her way through the crowd, and observed the little one struggling with a stranger, who on seeing her approach dodged into the crowd and disappeared. An attempt to abduct the child was made a month ago. A few weeks ago the Duchess of Northumberland offered to adopt the child, providing the mother would waive all legal rights to her, which Lady Drummond declined to do.

"COUNT" MITKIEWITZ.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.—A morning paper devotes a page to Count Mitkiewitz, giving his biography, and stating that he was born in Warsaw in 1800, in Mitkiewitz palace and his mother was a Polish lady of high rank. The account closes thus: "The Count's last achievement, that of obtaining the Chinese Emperor's concessions, just granted, will cause his name to go down to posterity as one of the most remarkable men of the nineteenth century. There are several Russian gentlemen in Washington, and many of them are indignant over the fact that Mitkiewitz persists in asserting he is a nobleman of Russian birth. One of them determined to get an authentic denial from the authorities in Warsaw of the right of this man to claim the title of Count. He cabled to Poland and this is the reply which he received: 'There is no Count Mitkiewitz in Warsaw, Poland or Russian. Mitkiewitz in America is a swindler and an imposter.'"

MR. TINGLE'S REPORT.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—The annual report of George R. Tingle, Treasury Agent in charge of the Alaska seal islands, has been received. The agent says the time has come when the lessees of the islands should be authorized to employ additional natives and teach them the business of sealing, as death has played sad havoc with the native sealers of the islands. The system of payment to the natives is criticised for its bad effect upon them, and it is held that it would be justice to allow the natives of Ounalaska to be employed and paid on the same footing with the natives of St Paul Islands.

The mortality among natives of St. Paul is said to be very great, while it is a remarkable fact that not a single death from disease has occurred among the white inhabitants since the transfer of Alaska to the United States.

From estimates made by Assistant Agent Noyes it appears that the grand total of breeding seals on St. Paul and St. George Islands, last spring, was 6,357,750, but in transmitting this statement Mr. Tingle adds that the deduction of one-fourth will bring the number closer to the truth. Whilst on two rookeries there are some falling off, it is certain that this vast number of the animals is still in existence.

A large part of the report was devoted to the seizure of the marauding vessels by the revenue cutters. The agent says that after the departure of the revenue cutter last fall large numbers of seals were taken by British marauders and the skins sold in Victoria. One vessel sent her boats to the rookeries, but they were fired upon by the natives and two men were wounded. This fact became known generally among the marauders and served to keep them at a safe distance from the rookeries. Up to the 1st of August four schooners had been seen operating around St. Paul Island this season. One of these vessels, the Angel Dolly of San Francisco, was seized by the agent, who boarded her with the help of the Alaska Commercial Company's steamer St. Paul. The vessel was in distress, as the captain had been accidentally shot and one man wounded while leaving Otter Island, where they had been killing seals. This made the seventh capture this season, the revenue cutter Rush having previously taken six, which were sent to Sitka for trial.

The agent suggests the advisability of providing a small steamship, armed with rifled cannon, as the schooners were killing seal in plain view of St. Paul Island while the Rush was protecting St. George Island. It is said that 30,000 skins would be a low estimate of those taken this season by marauders, and he adds: "The significance of these figures will be understood when the fact is borne in mind that only one in ten seals killed is secured."

CANADIAN NEWS.

SAILORS FIGHT.

QUEBEC, Sept. 12.—A fight occurred here yesterday between English and French sailors. Knives, clubs and stones were freely used, and two were fatally cut.

THE CHURCH AND THE STAR.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE TIMES:

SIR,—I crave the indulgence of your readers to reply to an article of the Star, which appeared in its yesterday's issue, as an answer to my communication of last week. First, I must say that the style in this article is so great an improvement on that of the first, that either the writer in this was in quite a different state of mind from that under which he was laboring in his first attempt, or that the writer of this article is a different person from the writer of the first. Yet here and there crops out some of the old style. Thus, for instance, he says that the Star "gives mouthand tongue to crudities." Now, in my humble opinion, I believe that a journal which claims to be respectable should never lower itself so as to "give mouth and tongue to crudities." In the second place, I am pleased to note that the Star makes an indirect apology to the Catholics, whom it has insulted in its foregoing issue, although it does not fully acknowledge its error, which acknowledgement, as a rule, is more than can be expected from an editor.

Now for the substance of the article: The Star does not refute my arguments; it merely denies them. I here repeat, without fear of being contradicted by laity, priest, bishop or Pope, that Dr. McGlynn was excommunicated not on account of his principles, but on account of his disobedience. I have closely followed the case of Dr. McGlynn in the religious and secular press and both bear me out on this subject. If the editor of the Star had read the two articles which appeared recently in the Colonist on this subject, he would be better enlightened. In the Colonist of yesterday there were two dispatches on the question; the one dated from Baltimore and the other from New York, and both state that McGlynn refused to go to Rome. Now I believe that the Star will admit the Colonist as an impartial witness, since neither its owners nor its editors are Catholics. I have further read the opinions of many of the secular and Protestant papers, which have come to the same conclusions as I have. I cannot now lay my hand on them, but if the editor of the Star requires them I will publish them later. Thus I have proved my statement. But what arguments does the Star give? None but denials and mere assertions. He gives, it is true, the statement of McGlynn himself. But is this reliable authority? Does a judge go to the accused to get to the centre of the case and upon their evidence rests the verdict. I have already given my witnesses, and, if asked for, will give more. What witnesses does the Star give? McGlynn alone. Now there is an axiom of law, which, I expect, the editor of the Star will not deny. It says: "Nemo judex is propria causa," that is, "no one is a judge in his own case." Therefore the evidence of McGlynn is to no purpose, and as long as the Star cannot adduce better witnesses, it cannot defend the stand which it has taken.

The defence by the Star of the pretended "bull of excommunication," is very lame indeed. That the Philadelphia Evening Item vouches for it is of little consequence as long as it does not prove the authenticity of the document. I give three substantial proofs—point out three theological errors to be found in the document. Does the Star refute them? No; it simply says: "'A Catholic' is trying to find internal (intrinsic should have been the word) evidence of forgery, but fails." This is no argument; it is a mere denial. I, as a Catholic, know what the Church of Rome teaches. The editor of the Star does not. I, as a Catholic, know that the Pope would be guilty of a damnable error were he to say that the blessed Virgin is eternal—is the patroness of our Saviour. I, as a Catholic, know that the Pope is too learned a man to say that St. John the Precursor is one person and St. John the Baptist is another. It rests with the Star to prove that the document in which these errors occur, is genuine; in other words it rests with the Star to prove that the Pope of Rome has swerved from the doctrine always held by the Church of Rome. The ipse dixit of the Star or of the Philadelphia Evening Item is no proof; it is merely an assertion; but one discusses arguments, not assertions. Therefore as long as the Star cannot refute the arguments which I have given, let its editor be quiet on the McGlynn question, and let him refrain from publishing forged documents; his paper will be more respectable.

The Editor of the Star takes me to task for using the word course instead of principles. This is simply a typographical error, as in my original communication I had written cause, which word was also written in the copy handed to the Times. This is evident from the conclusion of my article, in which I use the same word: "instead of advancing the cause of liberalism!"

A CATHOLIC.

NAVAL ATHLETIC SPORTS.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE TIMES:

SIR,—In Sunday's Colonist appears a programme of Athletic games to be given by the fleet. Perhaps the moving spirits in the framing of their programme forgot that the Victoria Athletic Club always included a race or races for naval men in their programmes when giving picnics or exhibitions. The insertion of a race for the Lawn Tennis Club, and ignoring the Athletic Club, seems strange, considering the treatment the naval men, including the flagship's band (which was engaged on several occasions) received from the latter club. This communication is not prompted by any ambition to take part in the naval games, but to point out an omission. The members of the Victoria Athletic Club have talked the matter over and decided not to take any part in the games, but consider the treatment very unfair.

POLITICAL AND PERSONAL.

Vancouver Herald: "We are free to confess that we do not know exactly how the provincial finances stand at the present time."

The formal dismissal of the petition against Mr. Blake took place last week at Bowmanville. The dismissal amounts to a virtual admission of fraud against the Conservative party in general, who preferred this petition knowing that there were no grounds upon which to base it.

Speaker Ouimet states that he has issued his warrant for a new election in Dorchester County to fill the vacancy caused by the death of the late Mr. Duchesnay. The judge who tried the Yarmouth election petition has also made his report declaring the election void, but the Speaker says he has not yet received any official notification of the death of Mr. Cimon, the late member for Charlevoix.

Bulgaria has put her foot down heavily on firm ground. She will not suffer a visit from the proposed Russo-Turkish commission, and she positively forbids any power to interfere with her national affairs. If Bulgaria were a beautiful girl in the arms of a vigorous swain, and if she should say to the vigorous swain, "Go way, you bad man," she would probably expect the vigorous swain to go right away.

The Toronto Globe's London special cables that the Marquis of Lorne contributes an article in the current number of the Liberal-Unionist, in which he asks whether a wholesome local autonomy cannot be granted Ireland by the organization of Provincial Chambers on the model of what Canadian statesmen wish Canada to become. In Dublin a council or delegation from the several Provincial Chambers might meet at College Green to pass ordinances affecting inter-Provincial interests. Irish representation in the Imperial Parliament would still be retained.

The Port of Quebec last week presented one of the most interesting scenes in its history. At the foot of the frowning citadel, for whose possession France and England fought with varying success for two centuries were peacefully anchored. This has never occurred since the memorable events of 1759, which decided the destiny of America. The official flag of the Govener-General floated over the rock where Montgomery fell, and the white and red ensign of England's navy and the tri-color of France were on the ships of their respective nations.

The Montreal Witness complains bitterly and justly of the unreasonableness and unfairness of the American people who talk war when their vessels are seized in Canadian waters, but who are delighted when Canadian vessels are seized upon the high seas, over which no nation in particular has any legitimate control. Moreover, these piracies are not committed for the benefit of the American people but in the interest of a monopoly known as the Alaska Commercial Company, at whose behest the American navy is used to commit piracy upon the high seas, by the unlawful seizures of both Canadian and American sealers. The order made last winter by United States Secretary Bayard for the release of the vessels seized prior to that time has been treated with contempt, which demonstrates that the Alaska monopoly is more potent than the United States Government.

Our morning contemporary, the Standard, is advocating "British Columbia for British Columbians." We are rejoiced to see our contemporary evincing an interest in the welfare of our citizens, and with the general principle that local men, in common justice and fairness, should be given the preference when public offices are to be filled, we most heartily agree. A rumor connects the name of Mr. N. Shakespeare, M. P., with the position of Postmaster, and in order that he may be safely shelved, the present efficient Postmaster, it is said, will be superannuated. Now, if Mr. Shakespeare's "claims" were to be ignored, and some played-out politician from the east should capture the prize, the force of our contemporary's objection would become more manifest. It is possible, however, to carry the policy of know-nothingism too far and by excluding all but "old residents" from all public positions do incalculable injury to the service and to the province. We cannot admit that length of residence is the only test by which a man's qualifications are to be judged. If Mr. Wallace's usefulness were gone and it was necessary to provide a successor, would it not be better to give the position to a capable, energetic and intelligent person from the east, whose business training would be a guarantee of his efficiency, rather than to Mr. Shakespeare simply because he is an old resident? In most of the departments of the public service, a technical knowledge is required and this fact no doubt accounts for several appointments that have been made. In the customs department, inland revenue service, postoffice, and B. C. government offices, the number of "new men" are comparatively few.

AN IMPORTANT COUNCIL.

The council of the Hudson's Bay Company officers, in Winnipeg last week, was the most important in the modern history of the company, and will doubtless result in largely extending its operations, and in many districts so changing the mode of conducting the business to meet the requirements of the altered condition of affairs consequent on the increase of settlement and the opening up of districts hitherto but little known. The visit of the officers to Winnipeg has been very gratifying to many citizens who have renewed old acquaintanceship, formed new ones and learned much of the character and history of the remoter portions of the great lone land. Prior to the breaking-up of the council its members were photographed in a group. They were also again entertained at a dinner by Mr. Wriggley, Chief Commissioner of the company, the evening before adjourning. Messrs. SMITH, MUNRO, LAWSON and LIVOCK are on their way home.

KINGSTON'S KNIGHT.

Sir RICHARD CARTWRIGHT, unquestionably one of our ablest public men, has pronounced himself in favor of Commercial Union. Of all men in Canada who have the courage to state their convictions on questions agitating the public mind, Sir RICHARD is the most fearless and outspoken. He is in every sense an aggressive politician. As to the objections constantly raised that Great Britain will interpose her opposition to union, and that the system would cut off Canada's revenue, he does not consider these insurmountable objections. Great Britain does not benefit much from Canada now, since high tariffs have been put on against her. She is mainly desirous of cementing cordial relations with the United States. If the question were presented to her from the standpoint that Canada wanted it, and that it would more closely relate Great Britain and the States, Sir RICHARD believes the proposition would be approved. It might depend somewhat on who was at the head of affairs, SALISBURY, GLADSTONE or CHAMBERLAIN, but, in any event, he thought this was merely an incidental objection that could be overcome. He had to admit, however, that there were "two parties to the bargain, and at the outset it should be known whether the United States will favor the system." Whatever may be the advantage to this country of the proposed arrangement, the discussion at the present time certainly seems to be somewhat premature. No evidence has been afforded that the United States would favor Commercial Union, and it is not at all certain that an undue anxiety on the part of Canadians to obtain it will tend to bring her citizens to that desirable state of mind.

The Chinese International Bank ---An Immense Concern.

Giving Americans Vast Influence in China---The Terms.

WASHINGTON, September 5.—The gentlemen who own a controlling interest in the syndicate to whom a concession for an International Bank in China has been granted, are Wharton Barker of Philadelphia, William L. Paine of New York, and Count Mitkiewiez of this city. Mr. Paine says: The capital has been fixed at $25,000,000, with the power to increase it to $50,000,000. The bank is empowered to coin all the money used in the Chinese empire, and also to issue bank notes up to the whole amount of its capital.

THE GOVERNMENT'S SHARE.

The Chinese Government has taken one-half of the capital stock of the bank, $12,500,000, at a par valuation of one hundred dollars. It is also agreed on the part of the Chinese Government that all concessions of whatever nature granted by the Chinese Government shall be passed through the bank. That is, that the bank shall take them and furnish the money. The bank is also to collect all customs duties and all Government debts—that is credits—throughout the empire.

BRANCHES.

The central bank will be located at Tientsin, with branches at Shanghai and other treaty ports, and wherever else it may be found necessary. The bank will disburse all the salaries of the Chinese Government officials.

AN AMERICAN AT THE HEAD.

The President of the bank will be an American, who will probably be Wharton Barker, of Philadelphia. There will also be a Chinese President, Li Hung Chang, the Premier of the Chinese Empire, who has accepted the Presidency of the Chinese contingent. Where officials are appointed to any position in this bank, the Chinese and Americans are to have equal consideration. For example—if a Chinese manager is appointed, an American inspector, with equal powers, will also be appointed, and vice versa.

JEALOUS RIVALS.

There is naturally much jealousy among the English, Germans and French growing out of the liberal manner in which we have been dealt with. The bank charter has already been filed at the Viceroy's Yamen, and this has the same effect as a ukase from the Czar of Russia; in other words it is now a law of the country.

THE CONTRACT.

It contains about eleven or twelve conditions. Among these are the subscription to the capital stock to the extent of half on the part of the Americans, their agreement to conduct their business in all other respects in accordance with the rules obtaining among the National Banks of the United States. When the news of the concession was received at Shanghai the stock of the Shanghai Bank, and an English concern with a large capital, fell in one day thirty-four points, from 100 taels to 96 taels. On the other hand, the stock of the Northern China Telegraph Company, owing to the fact that it had been agreed to consolidate the telephone and telegraph interests with American capital, advanced fifteen points.

A RACING STABLE.

What It Costs to Mount and Run an Establishment.

For centuries past racing has been styled a royal pastime, and a right costly one it is at that. When, at the close of a season, the statement is made that a certain stable has captured $100,000 in stakes and purses, the idea prevails that of all the methods of gaining money this must be the most delightful and exciting of its class. But, as the French axiom runs, there is a reverse side to the picture, and in many cases with somber colors, owing to the vast sums that are required to carry on a large establishment of thoroughbreds. Neither in Europe nor in this country can a case be mentioned where racing has yielded handsome returns when established on a grand scale and when entries are made in the principal stakes and purses throughout the country. This is the reason why the owners of such establishments are often obliged to back their horses in the books in order to balance their accounts at the end of the season.

Lord Falmouth, who is now the largest winner on the English turf, has often remarked that the keeping of more than a dozen horses in training simply meant money thrown away, and large stables in this country invariably met with the same experience.

Owing to the keen competition for thoroughbreds of high degree, the first cost of mounting an establishment is a very important item in the required expenditure, running on an average from $1,500 to $2,000 a head as yearlings. Next come the training expenses, about $5 a week, jockey's fees from $10,000 to $15,000 a year; then the entries to various stakes at all the racing centers, and lastly, the traveling expenses, which are very heavy especially for stables that are wintered on this coast.

It is thus safe to say that such racing establishments as those of Haggin or the Dwyer Brothers cost annually from $70,000 to $100,000, counting merely the interest on the money expended in the purchase of stock.

There is also a constant danger from epidemic diseases in a large establishment, as one horse suffering from cold or influenza will often give the complaint to all his stable companions, and this, in the midst of a campaign, means almost an irreparable loss. Then, from some unknown cause, a stable gets out of luck and form, and not a horse can be brought to the post in proper condition.—San Francisco Chronicle.

At the Battle of Gettysburg.

Very few civilians can rid their minds, even when they knew better, of the idea that any one present at a battle must see the whole or a large part of it, or at the least a very large amount of smoke and fighting. It is marvelous how very little any one individual sees of any one given battle, though he may be in the very thick of the fighting, or even at the headquarters of the commander in chief. I realized that fully on the present occasion, for although standing on one of the most advantageous spots to witness a portion of the fight, with the valley and town of Gettysburg lying below me and the heights beyond in full view, I reflected that our line was twelve miles in length, of which on even a clear day, with no intervening figures or smoke, I could at least only see about two miles.

Then again I had always supposed, as I am sure most other people suppose, that the commander in chief always took up a position where, field glass in hand, he could command a view of a large part of the action. Gen. Meade's headquarters were in a slight depression in a dense wood, whence you could see nothing a hundred yards off, and yet, strange to say, en passant, secluded as was this spot, the rebs had ascertained the locality to a nicety and shelled it with such vigor and accuracy that in ten minutes no less than sixteen horses belonging to the staff were killed. The officers all escaped unhurt by seeking shelter under the friendly shelter of huge boulders of granite, where they laughed and chatted and enjoyed the thing as a big joke while the shells shrieked and exploded beyond them.—Frank Bellew in New York Mail and Express.

The White Hair Craze.

I suppose most people who walk along Broadway with their eyes open cannot have failed to notice recently a remarkable increase in the number of young looking women with white hair that are to be met nowadays. I am myself the most credulous individual, and especially where lovely woman is concerned, it distresses me to find myself having the smallest doubt as to the genuineness of everything about her. But it seemed to me so odd that such a number of white haired women appeared all at once that I was moved to make perquisition into the subject, and consulted an affable acquaintance of mine who is what is styled a tonsorial artist.

From him I learned that the white hair craze is the latest fashionable fad, and that it is obtained by the same means that were employed to produce the daffodil colored tresses that have been so long in vogue, but which having been adopted by ladies of a certain class are now tabooed by society. The bleaching mixture is peroxide of hydrogen, which, when mixed with 25 per cent. of ammonia, will in two applications turn the blackest hair snow white by the simple process of destroying the coloring matter. Of course it is frightfully injurious to health, as it withers the capillary tubes just as any other vegetable is shriveled by burning, but the ladies who use it don't mind ruining their health as long as they can be in the fashion.—New York Letter.

The Jerry Builders in Rome.

The jerry builder is not to have it all his own way in Rome. The municipality has at last interfered and declared that overgrown, decrepit, insanitary structures are no longer to be run up like mushrooms and finished off, let and inhabited before the plaster is dry. The speculators and contractors who have hitherto been monarchs of all they surveyed protested against this interference with the vested interests of dishonest workmanship; but the S. P. Q. R. will probably stand firm, the evil having grown to intolerable and impossible dimensions. There is a grim satisfaction in knowing that the huge factories (for they resemble nothing else) which disgrace the Esquiline and the Prati di Castello are not quite so permanent as the Colosseum, and are scarcely more desirable as places of residence. They will rapidly crumble away, to be replaced, perhaps, with buildings more worthy of the Eternal City. But in the mean time, and for a generation or two at least, Rome is architecturally disgraced in the eyes of the civilized world.—Pall Mall Gazette.

His Sunday Nose.

"I once knew a sea captain who came from about here," he continued in a lighter strain, "who had an encounter with a shark in his youth and lost his nose, and for the sake of harmony rather than vanity he had a tin false nose made to look as much like the lost feature as possible. When he went to sea he tried always to make his crew recognize the Sabbath with appropriate respect and observance; he therefore ingeniously had a silver nose made for himself which he wore on Sunday, keeping the tin nose for week days, and the signal was always respected, so far as he knew. Perhaps he never heard that the sailors always called the Sabbath "Silver nose day," as they might well have easily been pardoned for doing.—Boston Post.

Youth and Health.

Each period of life has its own exposures and its own morbid tendencies. In the case of the old, however vigorous the constitution, the physical machinery sooner or later stops from its inevitable wear. It can no more run forever than a clock can, though it has within itself a wonderful, yet limited, power of self repair. Old age has also tendencies to arterial degeneration beyond those of any other period of life.

The exposures of middle life are due mainly to excesses—in food, pleasure, care and anxiety, or in work of brain or muscle. There ought to be few deaths within this period.

But youth, including childhood and infancy, has more liabilities than both the above periods combined. Within it much more than half the race die. Even in some communities where the laws of health are best understood, one-third of all who are born fail to pass their fifth year. Much of this mortality, however, is due, not so much to the necessary fatality of childish disorders as to the ignorance of mothers and nurses and to inherited weakness.

Teething effects a dangerous disturbance of the system, especially of the stomach, bowels and brain. Extreme heat, which, to adults, is mainly a discomfort, renders the child greatly liable to dysentery and cholera infantum.

Since no safe substitute has yet been found for the natural milk, and many mothers either cannot or will not nurse their children, multitudes of infants lose their lives from lack of the proper nourishment.

Children have a special susceptibility to many infectious diseases: measles, whooping cough, scarlet fever and diphtheria. This susceptibility, except in the case of diphtheria, is largely lost after the age of 12 or 15.

In youth the recuperative tendency is strong; hence, sinful indulgences seem harmless; but the harm is merely out of sight, for it really affects the very center of life—the brain and the nervous system. The effect of tobacco on the heart is fearful, and all similar habits arrest growth and the best development. Such habits are far more dangerous on youth, in their physical consequences and effects, than in mature years, although a bad habit tends to ruin in every period of life.—Youth's Companion.

Appearance of Tenement House Children.

Every one who visits among the tenements is surprised at the healthy looks of the children, who run about barefooted, and in summer barefooted, and who seem ruddy and strong. But they are the survivors who have passed through the critical age of infancy, when the weak quickly succumb to the foul air and torrid heat. Even these survivors, though they may seem outwardly vigorous, have but little strength, and when an epidemic of measles or scarlet fever prevails they quickly yield to its baneful influence. The managers of children's institutions will confirm this statement, and it shows how the effects of tenement life are perpetuated.

The terrible mortality among young children is the most potent evidence of the effects of the tenement house system. The massacre of the innocents in the homes of the poor is amazing and appalling to any one who has given it thought. For upward of twenty years some 16,000 to 17,000 children under 5 years of age annually perish in the metropolis, and most of them from what with fine irony are called "preventable" diseases. Despite the steady increase in intelligence and the various improvements that have been made in our sanitary regulations, in the condition of the streets and in the character of the new buildings that have been erected, the proportion of children's deaths show a steady advance, and it will continue to increase until radical measures are taken by the health authorities to improve the tenements.—New York Journal.

American Money in Europe.

It is more to the present purpose to speculate upon what the 100,000 Americans who come to Europe this year will get for their fifty or more millions of dollars. There will be, in the first place, in a negligible way, a great many suits of English made clothes, bought cheap; a large number of Paris made gowns, bought very, very dear; some pictures, some books, some bronzes and bric a brac, in all representing several millions of dollars, but not of very great importance one way or the other. What of the intangible but more vital acquisitions brought back by the returning hosts? I grow discouraged when I try to answer this question to myself. Seeing the American abroad, either here in London, where he plumes his wings, shaking the soot off their feathers, so to speak, for his flight to the continent, or over in lands across the channel and North sea, it is very painfully borne in upon the observers that he is not getting the worth of his money.—London Cor. New York Times.

How He Got His Title.

Thomas M. Griffiths, the well known civil engineer and builder of suspension bridges, has had a pretty extensive experience in dealing with people all over the country. In talking with him the other day he made humorous reference to the fashion which prevails in the south and southwest of conferring such titles as honorable, general, colonel or judge upon the most slender claims. He was at one time employed in building a suspension bridge at Waco, Texas. One day he chanced to cross the public square with a soldier's canteen slung under his arm filled with water. He was immediately addressed by the bystanders with the appellation of general, and the title stuck to him during all his remaining stay in Texas. "I got my title," remarked Mr. Griffiths, "easier than any man I ever heard of, north or south. But the manner in which I got it is a fair illustration of the southwestern habits and customs."—New York Tribune.

The Commercial Traveler.

Said a commercial traveler to a Minneapolis reporter the other day: "People have a strange idea that all traveling men are necessarily hard cases and constantly full of liquor. Only those who know us can fully understand us. In our average trips we visit 500 different localities, and our stomachs must be loaded with as many kinds of water and cooking of different men and women. Besides this our hearts and lungs must labor under all kinds of air below and above sea elevation. Now how is it reasonable to suppose that we are constantly 'boozing' or doing anything that must injure our stomachs and minds, when we every day transact business with hundreds of men of different temperaments?"

A Question Answered.

Omaha Man—Are those pug dogs intelligent?

Omaha Lady (proud owner of a pug)—Oh, their intelligence is almost human.

"I am surprised to hear that."

"I can't begin to tell you how much the dear little fellow knows. Mercy me! Jane! Jane! Where are you?"

Jane (a servant)—Here, mum.

"Run out as fast as you can and bring the dog in. It's raining."—Omaha World.

Restaurant Slang.

Col. Redbeck went into a Park row restaurant the other day, and calling a waiter to his table ordered a beef stew, two eggs fried on one side, a piece of pineapple pie and a cup of coffee with plenty of milk. The waiter walked to a hole in the wall and warbled:

Boys should be more careful in starting fires.

Roller Skating Rink Open Every Day.

A Coasting Trade.

During these times, when Canada on the Atlantic and the United States on the Pacific are interpreting treaty obligations with irritating illiberality, it might be asked who gave the American steamer Ancon the right to do a coasting trade in our waters. Recently, after leaving Victoria, she has gone into Metlakahtla and transhipped passengers and freight. This is a violation of our customs law. Who is responsible?

B. C. M. & M. Co.

It is understood that the report of Mr. Parish, the San Francisco expert sent up to examine the workings of the mine of the B. C. M. & M. Co., was of a character which did not warrant the directors in continuing the work at the spot being operated when Mr. Parish was there. He recommended another locality as in his judgment giving better indications of rich quartz. Accordingly the directors will withdraw from where operations have been carried on by them lately and open elsewhere on their property.

Give Them a Chance.

That is to say, your lungs. Also all your breathing machinery. Very wonderful machinery it is. Not only the larger air-passages, but the thousands of little tubes and cavities leading from them.

When these are clogged and choked with matter which ought not to be there, your lungs cannot half do their work. And what they do, they cannot do well.

Call it cold, cough, croup, pneumonia, catarrh, consumption or any of the family of throat and nose and head and lung obstructions, all are bad. All ought to be got rid of. There is just one sure way to get rid of them. That is to take Boschee's German Syrup, which any druggist will sell you at 75 cents a bottle. Even if everything else has failed you, you may depend upon this for certain.

—Kurtz's Jubilee Cigars are now ready.

DISTINGUISHED PRELATES.

Archbishops Taché and Fabre, and Several Fathers Reach Victoria.

Their Graces, Archbishop Taché, of St. Boniface, and Archbishop Fabre, of Montreal, arrived in this city on the steamer Yosemite last night. The venerable prelates were accompanied by the Rev. Fathers Maisonneurs, Duprat, Vaillant, Coccola and Lacombe. Sisters Della Taché and Marie Betrix accompanied the party.

A deputation of priests consisting of the Very Reverend Father Jonckau and Fathers Van Nevel, Durand and Roudoult received the visitors at the landing, and a committee from St. Joseph's Social and Literary Society, consisting of Messrs. W. J. McDowell, S. Donavon, H. Early, W. J. Farrell, S. Latham, B McDonald and T. Deasy, escorted the distinguished visitors in carriages to the residence of the clergy on Yates street.

ARCHBISHOP TACHE.

The Rt. Rev. Alex. Antonio Taché, Archbishop of St. Boniface, is a French Canadian by birth, having first seen daylight at Rievere du Loup on the 23rd July, 1823. He is a descendant from a distinguished French family, carrying with him traits which characterised his progenitors in Quebec centuries ago. His Grace was educated at St. Hyacinthe and the Grand Seminary, Montreal; he joined the Oblate Fathers as a novice in October, 1844, and in June of the next year set out for the Red River country, where he was destined to occupy so prominent and so honorable a position. He was ordained a priest by the then Bishop of St. Boniface, Mgr. Provencher. Of his subsequent career it is only necessary to give the briefest outlines. From one end of the vast Lone Land to the other, like St. Paul, through perils of land and perils of water, suffering untold hardships, yet ever pursuing his high calling in a manner worthy of his Divine Master, Archbishop Taché has by his constant and unremitting labor won the title of the Apostle of the Indians. He has won his way to the hearts of those wild people and few, if any, have such influence over them, an influence which has always been wielded for good and no doubt has done much to soften the heartburnings and jealousies of the red men at the encroachment of the pale face. When only in his 26th year he was consecrated bishop co-adjutor to Bishop Provencher, and on the latter's death in 1853, succeeded him in the title and was made Archbishop in 1873.

His Grace is an accomplished scholar, a cultivated gentleman and an orator of a very high order. No man living has so completely left his impress on any country, or so completely moulded it to his will as has Archbishop Taché the great Northwest. He is esteemed and beloved by all classes in that country—Catholics and Protestants alike. He has traveled over Canada's illimitable inland empire and possesses a thorough knowledge of all its requirements to a greater degree than does any other man in that country. He has made frequent visits to the Holy City. At the Vatican he is held in high esteem by the dignitaries of the church. This is his first visit to the coast. It is to be hoped the trip will prove beneficial for His Grace's health and that he will carry away with him favorable impressions of the Capital as well as the province generally.

of Montreal, is also a noted personage. He is an affable gentleman, brilliant and eloquent as an orator.

Father Lacombe, who is also of the party, is famed throughout the Northwest as the great missionary amongst the Indian tribes, and one possessing a wonderful influence in that country. With all classes he is extremely popular.

The distinguished party leave for Vancouver to-night, whence, by special car, they return to Winnipeg.

At New Westminster congratulatory addresses were presented to the party by Mr. W. H. Keary, signed by the Hon. Justice McCreight and 250 others, to which suitable replies were made by their Graces.

They drove round the city this morning. The several points of interest were pointed out to them. With Victoria and her surroundings, especially her great natural advantages and position as the commercial, shipping and educational metropolis of the coast in British Columbia, they were greatly pleased.

WEDDING BELLS.

Mr. W. J. Bell, of the Bell Organ Manufacturing Company, Guelph, Ont., who spent some days in this province last year was married on the 1st inst. at Omaha. Throughout Canada Mr. Bell was familiarly known as the "Crown Prince." His bride is Miss Sallie Lowe, daughter of Gen. Lowe, of the U. S. A., and is a full cousin to President Cleveland. Guests were present from Washington, Buffalo, Chicago, and other places, and the presents were numerous, handsome and valuable. Mr. Bell was attended by Mr. Harry Gow, acting Sheriff of the County of Wellington, and brother to the Messrs. Gow of Vancouver. Mr. John Merrill, Boston, Mass., and Mr. Lowe, of Omaha, who officiated as groomsmen. The bride was handsomely attired in white silk, with veil of Lyon lace. The only ornament worn was a diamond necklace, the gift of the groom. The marriage was one of the notable society events of Omaha. At the conclusion of the ceremony the young couple started for the east. They will visit Mr. Bell's parents in Guelph for a time and then start on a tour round the world. Mr. Bell is a clever young business gentleman and assumes control of the company's affairs in Europe, where he will reside.

Marriage.

Mr. E. A. Wylde, receiving teller in the Bank of British Columbia, and Miss J. Jorand, daughter of Mr. Henri Jorand, of Roccabella, were married to-day at 12 o'clock. The nuptial knot was tied by Rev. D. Fraser, in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, and the ceremony was witnessed by a few of the intimate friends of the contracting parties. The Misses Jorand, sisters of the bride, officiated as bridesmaids, and Mr. G. F. Matthews supported the groom in the trying ordeal. The bride was beautifully arrayed in white, and with bridal veil and orange blossoms was a perfect picture of loveliness. After the ceremony, dinner was partaken of at Roccabella, and the happy couple departed for Goldstream, where the first few days of the honeymoon will be passed. The bride was the recipient of many handsome presents, and both have the congratulations and best wishes of a host of friends.

In Brief and to the Point.

Dyspepsia and Indigestion and disordered liver is misery. Indigestion is a foe in good nature.

Greasy food, tough food, sloppy food, bad cookery, mental worry, late hours, irregular habits, and many other things which ought not to be, have made the American people a nation of dyspeptics.

But Green's August Flower has done a wonderful work in reforming this sad business and making the American people so healthy that they can enjoy their meals and be happy.

Remember! No happiness without health. But Green's August Flower brings health and happiness to the dyspeptic. Ask your druggist for a bottle. Seventy five cents.

The Premier.

A San Francisco dispatch says the steamer Premier, being built for the Canadian Pacific line, will be finished by 22nd inst., when she will be taken north. Her cost will be, all told, about $160,000, and her speed is guaranteed at 15 knots an hour. Constructing Engineer John Patterson, of the Canadian Pacific Navigation Co., who is in the city, said in an interview to-day: The company is now figuring on another steamer more than double the power of the Premier. Both Irving M. Scott and parties in the east have bid on it, but we would rather Mr. Scott would get it, because otherwise it will take two or three months to bring the steamer around.

VANCOUVER NEWS.

VANCOUVER, Sept. 11.—Mr. R. H. Benedict, for some time private secretary to H. Abbott, Esq., General Superintendent of the C. P. R., has accepted a position with Messrs. Welch, Bithet & Co., of Victoria. Mr. Benedict is a whole-souled, genial young gentleman, and he leaves many friends in Vancouver, who tender their best wishes for his success at the Capital. I may also remark that Mr. B. is likewise handsome, and likely to play havoc among the fair ones of Victoria.

There was a considerable "fall" in C. P. R. stock a few days ago. Mr. Richard Angus, forgetting that he was not in possession of a pair of seven-league boots, attempted to step over an uncovered cellar in rear of the C. P. R. office. Failing to reach the opposite shore in one bound, he unceremoniously sat down in some water and mud that were carelessly languishing eight feet below. When Angus got safely on the surface of terra firma again, and backed up to a mirror, he shocked everyone within ear shot by exclaiming "Gum dang the measly hole! I'll have a 'heck' of a time cleaning my pants!"

A public meeting was held on Friday night last for the purpose of forming a Board of Trade, and of discussing other matters of interest to the city. The B. of T. was successfully organized.

The Presbytery of Columbia has been in session here during the past week. One of the things in connection with it was a resolution by one of the reverend gentlemen, in which the Almighty is credited with bringing the Chinese to this coast. With all due respect to the members of the Presbytery, and their knowledge of holy things, I am constrained to believe, or, at least, hope, there is, and has been, more Divine love and compassion for the original settlers—Indians and ranchers—in British Columbia and California.

I understand that Mr. J. W. T. Weaver is organising a dramatic society. As to what plays will be rehearsed, or who the "stars" will be, is not yet given to the public. We may look for some great acting during the winter season.

An old "unfortunate," named Jimmie Stone, the greater part of whose days in Vancouver has been spent in the police court and lock-up, died in the hospital here on Saturday. He was buried; and nobody wept. There is a whole sermon in this.

Dr. Edmunds, of London, England, a prominent member of the British Association, is in the city. On Saturday last he delivered an interesting lecture before the Hospital Committee and the Board of Works on hospitals. The address was highly appreciated.

The Archbishops of Montreal and St. Boniface, the Rev. Father Lacombe and other dignitaries of the church, arrived in the city on Saturday afternoon.

At the city wharf on Saturday night, a large number of our citizens witnessed a very novel sight. It was the occasion of the embarking of the distinguished Catholic priests for a visit to the Indian Mission across the Inlet. Twenty-one canoe loads of Indians came over to meet the gentlemen. They had their small crafts beautifully decorated with colored lanterns, and as they paddled their way across the still waters of the Inlet, they presented a weird and pretty sight. The Mission band accompanied them and saluted the Archbishop with "Yankee Doodle," the appropriateness of which is a matter of private speculation. Mayor McLean, who was on board of a tug boat, delivered a short address welcoming the visitors. The party then started across to the village, and when about half-way across they were saluted by the Mission cannons in a right royal manner.

A Jewish wedding is to be celebrated in the city to-day.
